

■Venue:

International Relations Research Office (国際関係論研究室)

■Teacher:

Yasuhiro Nishiwaki (西脇靖洋)

■Description:

This course is designed for students who are interested in international relations (IR). In this seminar, IR theories will be applied to an array of issues in the contemporary world, including security, economic cooperation, migration and tourism.

Various regions such as Africa, East Asia, Europe and South America will be studied. However, there will be a special focus on European countries and their development within the EU. The processes involved in enlarging the EU have had a significant influence on numerous areas and the course will consider the outcomes and limitations of those processes.